About the property

Rolling countryside and the stunning 18th Century Appuldurcombe Estate which is situated in an area of outstanding natural beauty, is the wonderful outlook you'll be waking up to every morning.

This immaculately presented cottage offers everything you could want from village life, where you'll be able to make the most of the Island's excellent cycle and bridal paths. The property comes with parking and a separate garage, which is perfect for anyone with two cars. From the kerb, this pretty home is certainly appealing to the eye, a modern home yet full of character. Stepping inside the home, the rooms feel spacious and well designed.

The property is bright, light and very airy. The level of windows means the light just pours in! The open plan lounge/diner is a suburb size and is completed by a very modern kitchen. In addition to this, there is a downstairs shower room and separate WC. Upstairs, there are two excellently sized double bedrooms complete with a family bathroom, which again is very light and airy.

This charming cottage offers everything you'd want from a period style property without the maintenance.
