DESCRIPTION

Oaktree Cottages, comprising a row of 8 semi-detached houses built in the late 1940s, is set back from Main Street on the Aylesbury side of this rural village. Typical for houses of that time the house features solid internal walls throughout, and significantly, no other dwelling can be seen when looking out of the front or the back windows.

The large garden backs onto working fields and beyond the fields are Grendon woods which provide a picturesque backdrop and beautiful outlook. Due to the configuration of the house and size of the garden, the house is suited to single or double storey extension at the rear, subject to planning permission and this is something that several homes in the row have already taken advantage of. The front door opens to the hall and on your left is a shower room with a wc and wash basin. The kitchen/dining room has cream units and wood worktops incorporating a one and a half bowl sink and spaces are provided for a cooker/oven, a washing machine and a dishwasher. Attached to the kitchen are the boiler room and opposite a useful storage room which some have converted into utility rooms. The spacious sitting room runs the depth of the property and has a dual aspect and an open brick fireplace.

Upstairs are three bedrooms, two doubles and a good single, both double with built in wardrobes. The bathroom contains a white suite and over the bath is a hand held shower. The loft is part boarded.

OUTSIDE

To the front of the house is a very pleasant garden and although there is ample shared parking off the road many of the other Oak Tree Cottage residents have converted their frontage into driveways.

The back garden can be accessed via the gated side entrance or the boiler/store rooms. Some slabs have been laid to provide a patio and then it is mainly lawn stretching to just under 100ft. There are planted flower shrub and flower beds and central is a superb silver birch tree.

Three timber sheds are situated in the garden.

Previously mentioned is the outstanding view, it is quite stunning.
