Property Description

Situation

Located within Magpie Green being a most pleasant rural, but not isolated location on the north Suffolk border surrounded by beautiful countryside close to the Waveney Valley. Magpie Green lies in close proximity to the neighbouring villages of Wortham and Redgrave, whilst enjoying a peaceful rural position, the property is most convenient for a wider array of facilities found in the historic market town of Diss, lying under four miles away to the east. The town provides an extensive range of day to day amenities with the benefit of the mainline railway station with regular services connecting to London Liverpool Street and Norwich. Bury St Edmunds lies around 15 miles to the south west, with Ipswich being 25 miles to the south and Norwich is only 30 miles to the north, both via the A140.

Description

The property comprises a detached three bedroom part thatched cottage dating back to the early 1600's in parts which is now Grade II Listed. With a property of this age and as one would expect to find there is a wealth of period features within, offering an abundance of charm and character. Heated by way of an efficient air source heat pump. A self-contained annexe is found to the side (separate council tax band A) offering itself for dual living or potential holiday let.

Externally

The property is well positioned within its plot (approximately 0.25 acre sts) and provides extensive parking to the front upon a shingled driveway leading up to the cottage and adjacent Annexe. The cottagey gardens have been thoughtfully landscaped and planted and are now well established with a good variety of mature hedging, trees, interspersed with herbaceous plants and shrubs, providing plenty of charm and colour offering a good deal of privacy within.
